HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 17TH, 1895.

THE interruption of the proceedings of the Kucheng Commission, caused by the insolence and duplicity of the Chinese officials, ought to bring the whole degrading farce to -an end. It ought never to have been entered on, and now that an opportunity presents itself of getting out of it with dignity it is to be hoped it will be promptly availed of. Had a force of five hundred men been sent up from Hongkong to raze the city of Knicheng to the ground and to bring back the Viceroy and one or two other high officials for detention here until full satisfaction was accorded by the Chinese Government the measure would have proved effective and would have been unattended by any humiliation of the British name. Instead of that the Consul is sent up to be present at the trial of the persons accused of having committed the murders at Hwasang, to witness their tortures, and to make himself and his Government particeps criminis in the barbaric proceedings of a Chinese criminal court. No greater mistake was ever made. The party to be dealt with is the Chinese Government, not the miserable wretches who are the pawns with which the high officials play their game of murder treachery. and deceit. However, Mr. MANSFIELD and his American colleague went up to Kucheng and were at first met with a statement that they could not be permitted to be present at the trials. After some negotiation that point was conceded and they were graciously accorded entrance to the torture chainber. Now comes a second check. Chinese authorities refuse to carry out any executions unless the foreign representatives in full discharge of all obligations in the

and are, as usual, awaiting instructions. England does not, or ought not, to entertain. any desire for the coolies' heads. It is the duty of the Chinese Government to deal with its so in its own way. It is the Chinese Government itself that is responsible to the Britisl Government and it ought not to be allowed injured that they had to be taken to the hospital. to shift its responsibilities on to the shoulders of a few ignorant wretches, how ever vicious, who confess under the influence of torture. A foul massacre has been committed for which the Chinese Government must be held accountable and for which England demands atonement. The idea of accepting blood money has everywhere been treated with detestation, all the public meetings that have been held having expressed themselves strongly on that point. That the actual murderers should be punished, although they may have been mere tools in some thirty of them were burnt. The Governor place it is contended for the appellants that the the hands of others, is of course agreed, but that is not the main point to be insisted upon. It is the Chinese Government that planderers would be executed on the spot: and Ordinance XXII. of 1891 (amonding Oris at bottom responsible for the whole shusiness; previous outrages on foreigners have gioner, Profect, Magistrates, and Lieutenants. of opium without having applied for and ob- case stated by the lagistrate under section 99 been allowed to go unpunished and have The fire was not get under until one c'clock. tained the proper permit have no application. of the Magistrate Ordinance, 10 of 1890. founded—that such affairs were really pleasing to the mandarins and the Government. If any permanent good is to be effected it can only be by inflicting such punishment as will be felt by the Government, and that can never be done by exacting a mere money payment or a few coolies heads. The only thing that can really touch the Government is to commel the surrender of territory; that touches them to the quick and that is what should be insisted upon.

Hongkong requires a rectification of its froutiers and the present is an opportune time to effect it. The desirability of the acquisition of a strip of territory to give us command of sides of the Lyeemoon Pass and of hills commanding the colony from Kewloon has already been recognised by the home Government, et the time the matter was last discussed it was held there was no ground on which the concession could be asked for. A crisis has now arrived when the territory may advantageously be taken, not as a friendly concession, but as a surrender enforced in atonement of a most fingitious crime. It is not a case for argument, or negotiation. Let the territory be formally occupied and the Chinese Government be informed that it is taken in satisfaction the Kucheng affair. It would be a stain on the national honour to allow the Consul to be any longer concerned in the trials at Kutheng. The Chinese Government may be left to deal with its criminals in its Sowings should be made in FIME WEATHER own way, which will not be a very gentle the less of territory, nor will the ignorant 1891 to enable Irish tenants to purchase their coolies e the only sufferers. As to monetary holdings by the help of funds advanced by the compensation to those injured in the State. Kucheng attack and to the families of those who were killed, that is responsibility that might reasonably taken over by the British Government an one of the conditions attaching to the suggested transfer of territory. The acceptance of blood money should henceforth be in all cases resolutely declined. It is the way in whiteh the Chinese like to settle up affairs, but there is disgrace attaching to the acceptance of that kind of money. Where property has been destroyed, as ju the case of the Szechuen riots, the Chinese Government may fairly be called upon to restore it or to pay the bill for its restoration, but where it is a case of loss of life occurring under such circumstances as to fix the. Chinese. Government with criminal Tesponsibility compound for their guilt by a monetary payment. As a penalty for the Kucheng massacre the territory required by Hongkong may reasonably be taken, with an intimation to the Chinese that any future outrages of a similar character will be followed by further annexations. If the city of Foochow were occupied, as has been suggested;" it would naturally bring the matter more closely home to those immedintely concerned in the outrage, but England No anonymously signed communications that have does not want the city of Foochow, and it is the Chinese Government that pressure, has Orders for extra copies of DARLY PRESS should be to be brought to bear upon. It is satisfactory to know that the ringleader in the disgraceful attack on English visitors at Kowleon City on Sunday afternoon has been arrested. Yesterday he was taken before the head mandarin at Kowloon City, and after he had been identified as a prominent participator in the affray he was lodged in prison. He will be tried this morning.

Fines varying from $2 to $250 were imposed. The defendant fixed the highest amount is the compradors of the steamer Nestor. He smuggled his opium in a very ingenious fashion. There was a lively coolie fight at the Peak on Sunday efternoon. A gang of earth coolies were at work near the junior mess of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank. THE BURNING OF THE " YACHIKO MARU."

Particulars of the hurning of the steamer Yachiyo mark (owned by Mr. Nagoshi Aisuko, of Osaka) in the Tsuruga harbour, which we reported briefly from a tologram, are new to hand. The eteamer left Kobe on the 18th ult, with 1,500 cases of kerosine oil and some sugar and flour, bound to Tsuruga. She encountered a gale on the way and after putting into Sakai, Hoki province, for shelter, she arrived at her destination on 28th ult., where all her cargo was discharged. Eight hundred cases of Echigo petroleum and some rice were taken on board as return freight on the day of dissator, 29th ult., and while some more oil was being taken in an explosion with a tremondous report occurred in her hold and the vessel was soon enveloped in furious flames and dense clouds of black smoke. Seven men who happened to be on board at the time, having no other means of escape, jumped overboard. They were picked up by boats in the vicinity, but the other men, with the exception of one. were severely burned by the explosion and six mon died soon afterwards. The fire, with the and of the highly combustible fluid, spread all over the ship and burnt with a fearful force. The efforts of firemen who essayed to arrest the flames availed nothing. The captain's order to souttle the vessel also proved a failure. The fire, which was started in the morning, continued till seven in the evening, when the vessel was burnt to the water's edge. More complications ensued the different companies took sides, and now Chinatown is having one of the liveliest wars it has ever had. NEW YORK, 16th August. The Herald says the most important fact that has developed in connection with the financial situation is that a small premium is being paid for gold obtained from sources ontside the subtreasury. An inquiry revealed the fact that very little of this gold is shipped to Europe, inasmuch as the remitters could withdraw the necessary gold in coin, from the sub-treasury, without paying any premium. So far as can be learned the premium is chiefly paid for assay office bars that come from private smelters in the west. The premium in many cases is paid for the assay office checks given when gold was deposited in the keeping of the government. This amounts to the same thing as taking the gold itself.

It is a more conjecture, how many, if any are paying a premium for the gold, but the fact is known that the gold syndicate on Taesday last deposited at the assay office $300,000 in gold bullion and received assay office checks for it. Of this amount $60,000 consisted of private bars, and the remainder of assay office bars. The conclusion to be drawn from this trans action is that the syndicate is continuing it accumulation of gold, which is supposed to have been going on for some time, but the extent o which has been carefully concealed. Of course all this does not indicate that gol rules at a premium, for there is no difficulty i obtaining it at the sub-treasury without paying a premium. The fact of a ruling premium would soon become known, but the fact that special efforts are made to keep it secret tha any premiums are paid—if such is really the case—seems to indicate that the syndicate ha an object in keeping its plan quiet. If it were known that it were true that the syndicate ha set out to accumulate a large amount of bullion for the purpose of protecting the treasury rebindered in one way or another.

It is a characteristic feature of the age that every talent, may every accomplishment, is turned to practical and remunerative account. Miss Wheelock, the Queen of American whistplayers, whose high title was won from no less; an authority than the illustrious Cavendish: himself, has long been a standing refutation of the assertion that women cannot become as good whist players as men. For some sensons past she has held classes in the game in many centres of the States, and she gives it as her experience that women are more conscientious students of the game and eventually develop into more scientific players than men do.

In the cheese regions of Switzerland a custom prevails for the friends of a bride and bridegroom to join in the presentation to them on their wedding-day of an elaborate cheese. The cheese is used as a family register and burloom, on which the births, deaths, and marriages of its various members are recorded. Some of these old cheeses date back to 1660. At recent agricultural show, held at Gessenay, one of these cheeses, from 170 to 180 years old, was exhibited by a country squire. The cheese had been an heirloom in a family residing in the Canton of Vaud, after which it became the property of its present possessor, who resides in the Canton of Berne

A ovnic might find some amusement in the discussions which has so exercised the Geographere and roused them to unusual warmth. For the last decade or so international affairs have largely been African offairs. Every nation has plunged hot and headstrong into the scrambl for Africa. Expeditions have raced against each other, diplomatists have intrigued against each other, map-makers have put on the colours against each other. And now, during a pause in the hot chase, the learned ones of the earth, International Geographical Congress assembled begin arguing against each other whether, after all, Africa—the Africa, that is, of the scram ble-is of any particular use to anybody, with shrewd suspicion; it seems, on the part of several of them that, as a matter of fact, isn't. Well, and if it isn't, the race for i the cynic will say, is only in keeping wit most other human endeavours !.

A perplexed golfer writes to Golf asking f advice in the following circumstances :- Whil playing on the links at Streetly, he drove a bal which apparently fell clear, but which for son time could not be found. After some lit hunting it was discovered under a small tu of heather in a lark's nost, resting on the ba of a young lark, about apparently four day old, together with three lark's eggs, whi were quite intact. The gelfer was oblige of course, to lift the ball and place it behin as it would have been gross cruelty to ha he bound to lose the hole? The editor replies that if a player were a stickler for the law and nothing but the law, he of course would be entitled to enforce it against his opponent who found the ball in the nest; but surely every humane feeling would prompt a golfer worthy the name of sportsman to allow his opponent in such exceptional circumstances to lift the ball and play from behind. If not, then better a lost hole and a lost match than to deal devastating doom with the niblick.

The late General Grant was as formidable s poker as he was in the field. The Boston Herald gives some reminiscences of his demeancur at play by an old olum :- The difficulty we all experienced in playing poker with Grant," remarked this officer, "was his extreme reticence and wonderful impassiveness, which none could penetrate. Ninety-nin mon out of a hundred, under the excitement of high play, will betray emotion to a greater of lesser extent, but Grant was a sphinx that never spoke. He was always cool and self-possessed even when the wine flowed too freely, and w were all somewhat the worse for wear. No one could measure the strength or weakness o Grant's 'hand' by any outward sign, or the circumstances of his play. Apparently he was oblivious to all surroundings, but clos inspection revealed the fact that he watched hi adversaries narrowly, and could detect a bluff with unerring certainty. He would call a man with an inconsiderable pair when it cost a good round sum to see the bet. It was undoubtedly the outcome of military genius which enabled Grant to detect either the strength or. weakness of his adversary at cards. We did not then comprehend that his play was strategic, and his methods of gaming really conducted upon military principles."
